

Earn Your Accredited Lean Six Sigma Yellow or Green Belt Certification Online

Workshop Instructor
DR. MATTHEW ROMOSER

Dr. Matthew Romoser is an associate professor of Industrial Engineering at Western New England

University and is the lead trainer for this program. In addition to being an educator he is also a researcher with 25 years of experience working directly with industry. He is a highly qualified Black Belt trainer and expert in Lean Six Sigma, process improvement, advanced training systems, human factors and work analysis and design.

In today's competitive climate, the question is not whether you need Lean Six Sigma training, but when. With Lean Six Sigma Yellow or Green Belt Certification offered exclusively by Western New England University and Solomon EOS, you'll be ready.

Yellow Belt Workshop: January 20 to March 2, 2021

Green Belt Workshop: February 10 to April 20, 2021

Lean Thinking offers a disciplined approach to systems improvement that is key to saving money, improving quality and increasing customer satisfaction. Through these workshops, what you learn today can have immediate application to your work, increase your earning potential, and position you for advancement opportunities.

Exclusive online workshops or on-site training available by arrangement for groups of 10 or more employees from the same company.

YELLOW BELT

Fees: $840 + $25 exam

GREEN BELT

Fees: $1,800* +$75 exam

$250 software (if needed)

*Fees include advisement on required green belt project.

For details and to enroll, visit wne.edu/six-sigma.
Be sure to use the WNE code: SEOS53 when enrolling.